

Exchange Week for foreign visiting professors
8 - 12 April 2024
Iscte, Lisbon

Professor Nour Wehbe
University Montpellier Business School
Country France

Brief CV

Assistant professor in Economics with 7 years of experience in research and teaching.

On-going research topic

Business strategy and Environment, Energy economics, Environmental economics, Sustainable development, Decision making under risk.

Relevant publications

Wehbe N. 2023. What Will It Cost? Forecasting the Costs of Renewable Electricity Generation technologies for 2030? Submitted, Economic Modelling.

Wehbe N. Optimization of Lebanon's power generation scenarios to meet the electricity demand by 2030. Electricity Journal, Volume 33, issue 5, June 2020, 106764.

Wehbe N., Assaf B., Darwich S. Study of causality between electricity consumption and economic growth. Lebanese Science Journal, Vol. 19, n°3, pp.432- 452.

Topic of lecture for the students

Navigating the Future - A Seminar on Sustainability, Climate Change, and Energy Issues

Outline of lecture for the students

This seminar delves into the aspects of sustainability, climate change, and energy practices within corporate environments. A dedicated focus on sustainable energy strategies, particularly the integration of renewables, is discussed. The seminar makes a call to action, boosting students to apply their acquired knowledge in their academic and professional pursuits, fostering a more sustainable future.